

ACS MediHealth Announces Professional Services Offerings for MEDITECH Facilities

ALPHARETTA, GA -- Health care consulting firm ACS MediHealth is now offering professional services for users of the Medical Information Technology, Inc. (MEDITECH) Health Care Information System (HCIS). These services are designed to assist MEDITECH clients, not just with adopting new technologies, but also with revising workflows and embracing change management for long-term success.

ACS MediHealth's wide array of service offerings include:

- A full line of evaluation products
- MEDITECH-supported (and/or certified) devices
- Assistance with product integration and implementation
- A mobility training program
- Cart fleet, mobility workflow, and wireless assessment services

Led by a team of health care executives, each with 20+ years of industry experience, ACS MediHealth has completed more than 500 successful projects on behalf of health enterprises. The company's leaders in professional services include prolific researchers and authors (as well as two university professors) who are widely published in peer review literature, industry journals, and trade magazines.

With their extensive knowledge and experience, ACS MediHealth's health care consultants possess a firm grasp of the realities of the hospital environment, as well as the vision and ability to shape the technology solutions of MEDITECH's varied customer base.
